

Jill Borchert, PharmD, BCACP, BCPS, FCCP

Biographical Sketch

Dr. Borchert is Professor of Pharmacy Practice at Midwestern University Chicago College of Pharmacy in Downers Grove, IL. She received her PharmD at the University of Michigan and completed residency training at the University of California, San Francisco. With 20 years of clinical experience in ambulatory care, Dr. Borchert currently provides patient care in Health Management at Advocate Aurora Health where she focuses on the management of chronic diseases including diabetes, osteoporosis and anticoagulation. She joined the faculty at Midwestern University in 1999. In her current role, she serves as Vice Chair for Teaching and Learning in the Department of Pharmacy Practice. She has served on various committees and leadership positions in academic pharmacy and pharmacy organizations. She has served as a faculty member for continuing education presentations locally and nationally. Her research interests include methods to optimize methods of training students and residents, evidence-based practice, and stress in pharmacy students. She completed the AACP Academic Leadership Fellows Program and is a fellow of the American College of Clinical Pharmacy.